

COVID-19 UPDATE

In light of the COVID-19 (coronavirus) concerns and government updates we would like to take the opportunity to reassure our clients and partners that FWS will remain fully operational in both our Durham and East Kilbride offices.

We are taking precautions to protect all our staff and the business whilst maintaining our high level of service to clients. This includes staff working remotely where possible with full access to our projects and being easily reachable via telephone and email.

As a small business, there will also be someone available in the office at all times during business hours to answer telephone queries and point you in the right direction.

We are continuing with business as usual, including site works.

We will evolve our procedures in line with government advice to protect the health and wellbeing of our staff and their families. We would like to thank all our clients for their support and understanding, and we are providing all our normal geotechnical and environmental consultancy services to our usual high standards.
